Orlando Museum of Art Announces Grant Award for Art's the Spark @ OMA

Orlando, Fla. (January 19, 2011) - Thanks to a grant recently received from the Community Foundation of Central Florida, the Orlando Museum of Art is excited to announce the continuation of its Art's the Spark @ OMA program in 2011. Art's the Spark @ OMA is based on a national program developed by The Museum of Modern Art in New York City. This free program is especially designed for those with early and middle stage Alzheimer's disease and their caregivers

The first program for 2011 will take place Saturday, January 22nd at 10:30 a.m. For 90 minutes participants will enjoy interactive guided tours and studio activities. This experience gives participants a fun experience, an expressive outlet and a forum for adult dialogue. Take home materials are available as a way to extend the program's positive effect.

This free program was funded in part by a grant from the Funds of the Community Foundation of Central Florida, Inc, one of more than 300 charitable funds established since 1994. Visit www.cfcflorida.org for more information regarding the Community Foundation, a public grantmaking foundation that is home to nearly 400 charitable funds established by philanthropists who care about the impact of their giving as much as the charitable causes they support.
